

Motivation for Installation

Sabji Thela, headquartered in Mumbai is a unique platform catering to your daily needs from vegetables to groceries, both online & offline.

With their rapid growth in the market, they were on a lookout for a solution to make their customer service more quicker and effective.

That's where we Panasonic came to the rescue.

The Team of Sabji Thela wanted a solution where the Sales Team can directly call the HO from the field in case of any low quality vegetables being delivered and can report at the same time, providing with faster refund to the customers.

We provided them with a solution wherein one VC-1300 was installed at the HO with a mobility license. So the Sales team can call directly from the mobile while they are on the field.

System Configuration

The main reason for success of this project was our Panasonic HDVC Mobility support at 512 kbps.
